From the desk of the DEVELOPER.....

It is with absolute delight and humbleness that we may introduce ourselves to you all. Our company La Camargue Property Developers (Pty) Ltd has been successful in purchasing La Camargue Private Country Estate.

The two directors are Tania Fourie, who has been involved with La Camargue from the very start and known to most of you, and Corrie Labuschagne, a director and shareholder of Nexus Group, based in Namibia.

Please visit the website, www.nexusgroup.com.na, to view other projects that they have been involved in. The Nexus Group was awarded the runner-up prize as Best Developer by the Bank Windhoek in 2016.

We look forward to the next phase and village being launched soon and will keep you posted. We trust that you, as current owners, will both notice and appreciate the big changes but especially the small changes being implemented by us as the new developers of La Camargue Private Country

We look forward to taking hands with you in making your investment and ours hugely successful and to build La Camargue to a much sought after address in Hartbeespoort. A hidden jewel to be discovered by many.

ANIMALS AND BIRDS

at La Camargue

Keep an eye out for our other newsletters for information on wildlife found at La Camargue such as: Impala, Wildebeest, Blesbuck, Porcupine, Jackal and more

The Duiker gets its name from the Afrikaans word 'duiker' which means to dive, relating to the animal's habit of ducking away into bushes when danger threatens. They can live independently of water and feed on leaves, fruit and seeds. They are one of the very few antelope to have been known to eat insects and carrion.

They are mainly active in late afternoon and into the night with other peak periods in the early morning hours. They are probably the most successful bovid species in Africa.
